

Reflections on Lean

What's the one piece of advice that you wish you'd have been given at the start of your Lean journey?

Daniel Jones (@DanielJonesLean)

"Find a Sensei, go learn with your colleagues and reflect on what worked and what did not and why - you will find the right path for your situation."

Matt Elson (@matteTnT)

"Humility. Being effective is NOT knowing all the answers all the time. Get over yourself, be quiet and observe. TPS is about human development, and that starts with you!"

Tracey Richardson (@TheToyotaGal)

"Lean is very simple, it's just not easy to do. When you put process before results then you are "lean". If you push results and numbers, then your culture is dying a slow death."
